Course Description

Carntyne's Dangerous Goods Awareness course is designed to raise general, function specific, flammable liquid safety and security awareness of personnel concerned with activities associated with the Carriage of Dangerous Goods by Road as defined within ADR. The content of the course meets with the requirements of ADR and any subsequent Department for Transport Security Plan Auditing.

Who should attend...

Any personnel within a consignor, carrier, consignee organisation whose role is directly concerned with the handling, storage and/or distribution of dangerous goods by road. Roles detailed within ADR include:

- Administrator of consignment documentation
- Loader
- Packer
- Filler
- Unloader

Course Objectives

General Awareness Training – Ensure individuals are familiar with the general requirements of the provision for the carriage of dangerous goods both on a domestic and international basis.

Function Specific Training – Ensure individuals are aware of their specific duties and responsibilities in relation to the carriage of dangerous goods for the purposes of fulfilling their roles as detailed within ADR.

Safety Training – Ensure individuals are aware of the hazards and dangers presented by the dangerous goods being handled and understand the principles of safe handling and emergency response in the event of a loss of containment. Course content is specific to Class 3 Flammable Liquids. However, additional modules can be added to cater for other dangerous goods.

Security Awareness Training – Identify nature of potential security risks in relation to the organisation and provide guidance to individuals on methods of reducing such risks and actions required to be taken in the event of a security breach.
